City Votes No On Ambulance Funding

The Grayling City Council voted 5-0 on Monday, July 31, not to financially support the Crawford County Ambulance Corp (CCAC). The Council said it would be represented by one or more persons at the county's August 3rd meeting with county and township officials.

Mayor Robert Golinick said the Council expressed high praise for the quality of service provided by the Crawford County Ambulance Corp. He said the Council decided against funding the ambulance because the City's new budget, which was set prior to receiving the county's financial proposal, did not allow for the additional ambulance expense.

"I would like to see the ambulance funding issue put to a vote on a special election ballot," said Golinick. "In my opinion, the first ambulance vote, scheduled on the last day of tax collection, came at a bad time for most Crawford County residents." Golinick said that if the county approves a second millage election to fund the CCAC he would recommend to the Council that the City pick up its share of the special election expense.

City Manager, Jerry Morford, said in his opinion, it did not seem reasonable for one government unit to ask other units to assume responsibility for a program because it decides to drop the program.

On Friday, July 14, the Crawford County Board of Commissioners voted unanimously to discontinue the Crawford County Ambulance Corp if Grayling Township and the City of Grayling did not agree to begin paying a portion of the county ambulance's expenses. If the Grayling City Council's decision stands, the county ambulance service will go out of business on September 12.

Injured Bike Rider 'Doing Fine' at Home

Jon R. Sanchez, 11, of Grayling was injured last Tuesday, July 25, at 1:45 p.m. when the bicycle he was riding was struck by a car.

Crawford County Sheriff deputies said Sanchez was riding south-bound on Old 27, near Timberly village, with the flow of traffic when he turned sharply to the left into the path of a car driven by Betty Bohn, 68, of Grayling. Sanchez was taken to Grayling Mercy Hospital by the Crawford County Ambulance Corp, and then transferred to Munson Medical Center in Traverse City.

Sanchez received extensive facial cuts requiring about 30 stitches, but no other serious injuries. He has returned home, and according to his mother, Helen, he is "doing fine."

'89 Marathon One of Closest Races Ever

As many as four different teams kept switching the lead throughout one of the best AuSable Marathon races ever.

The lead even switched after the finish lead. Solomon Carriere and Steve Landick, the first team to cross the finish line at 14 hours, 37 minutes, 28 seconds, were penalized 10 minutes for missing the pre-race paddlers meeting. The 10-minute penalty dropped them to 4th place.

Randy Drake, of Virginia Beach, VA, and Al Rudquist, of Grand Rapids, MN, came in first with a time of 14:38:18. They won $4,000.

Jeff Kolka, of Grayling, and Bill Torongo, of Roscommon, came in 2nd at 14:41:20 and won $2,500. Jim Harwood and Dave Shepherd, both of Grayling, came in 3rd at 14:44:35 and won $1,750. Both teams held first place at various points in the close race and had lots of local support all the way to Oscoda.

Carriere and Landick, who won $1,500, knew about the 10-minute penalty before the race started. They didn't protest the penalty but weren't happy about it.

"Technically, we won the race," Landick said at the finish line.

"The most important thing is that we did win the race," said Carriere. Carriere said when he checked into the race registration desk he asked a lady if they had to attend anything before the race and she said no. Both racers have paddled in the marathon and attended the meetings before. The paddlers' race packet also clearly says the pre-race meeting is mandatory.

Rudquist said Carriere and Landick paddled one heck of a race.

"We knew they had been assessed a 10-minute penalty, so we helped them make up some time on the other canoes by letting them ride our wake," said Rudquist. "If we had been racing against them, we would have done some things different. I'm not saying that we would have beaten them but our strategy would have changed had they not been penalized."

Rick Joy, of Silverwood, MI, and Scott McKenzie, of Harrison, took 5th at 14:56:18 and won $1,250. They were part of a five team pack at the front for most of the early morning on Sunday. The top five teams hit the beach at Alcona less than 18 seconds apart. It was only the 2nd time in 42 years five teams finished in under 15 hours.

The father and son team of Ken Kolonich, 43, and Steve Kolonich, 17, finished 6th at 15:17:57 and won $1,000. Ken had raced in the marathon before with his father Steve Kolonich, who won the race in 1958 with Larry Kindell.

Big John Baker and Jeff Kellogg took 7th at 15:26:37 and won $825. Baker won the race in 1976, 78, 80 and 81. Kellogg won 1974 and 75.

Jim Whaley and John Nemeth took 8th at 15:33:28 and won $750.

Lynne Witte and Bob MacDowell took 9th at 15:37:14 and won $700. They were the only mixed team in the pro division.

Joe Johnson and Jim Larson took 10th at 16:20:13 and won $650.

Al Widing, Jr., and Martin Prout took 11th at 16:22:59 and won $600.

Grant Spalding and Al Robinson took 12th at 16:33:03 and won $550.

Al Widing, Sr., and Rich Rowbotham took 13th at 17:06:59 and won $500. It is believed Widing, 64, holds the record for most marathons entered.

Ron Wyman, 21, and Denny Springer, 16, both of Grayling, took 14th at 17:13:19 and won $450.

Buzz Peterson, 65, and David Sipe, 36, took 15th at 18:06:47 and won $400. Peterson won the marathon in 1963, 64, 65, and 71.

Todd Gabriel, 26, and Jim Sheldon, 27, both of Grayling, won the amateur division with a time of 16:43:11. Gabriel had finished 2nd in the amateur division last year with Todd VanDeVen.

Steve Joy and Ray Quick finished 2nd at 17:29:03.

Mike Davis, 19, and Carrie Trudgeon, 19, were the 3rd amateur team to finish. Their time of 18:39:58 just missed the official cut-off time of four hours after the first canoe to finish.

Twenty five teams entered the race. One dropped out before the start and six left the river.

OVERCOMING ADVERSITY -- Jeff Kolka, front, shook off a leg cramp at Five Channels Dam to finish 2nd in the 42nd AuSable Marathon with his partner Bill Torongo.

26 Years of Changes At Shawono Center

(This is the first of three articles on the Shawono Center, a medium security juvenile treatment facility located along Howes Lake.)

By Irene Pettyjohn

Call the Shawono Center "Camp Shawono" and the staff there will quickly correct your mistake, and explain the difference.

The Shawono Center, a medium security juvenile treatment facility administered by the Residential Care Division of the Department of Social Services, has been a part of Crawford County since 1963 when it was known as Camp LaVictor and was located on M-93 between Grayling and the Hartwick Pines State Park. During the facility's 26 year history many changes have taken place. These changes include the construction of the new Howes Lake facility in 1974, the transition from a minimum security to a medium security facility and coinciding with that change, a new name and treatment program.

Camp LaVictor, which later was called Camp Shawono, was a minimum security rehabilitation facility that operated a "camp program" on the premise that if delinquent boys were put into a structured program, some rehabilitation was possible. The boys, called campers, left the facility in small groups with a supervisor and worked in state parks or on DNR projects for about six hours each day, similar to the Camp Lehman program. The boys would return to the camp for their evening meal, and then go to school for two or three hours working towards their G.E.D. At that time going to school was encouraged, but not mandatory. Boys participating in camp programs were wards of the state who had committed some type of misdemeanor crime such as property offenses or home and school truantcies, offenses which adults could not be charged.

Change To Medium Security

The name changed to Shawono Center in June, 1986, when the program changed from a camp program to a more traditional medium security training school. Charles Amman, program manager, said the most significant changes at Shawono include:

--Residents no longer leave the campus to work, but instead attend educational classes for about seven hours each day and engage in structured activities during non-school time.

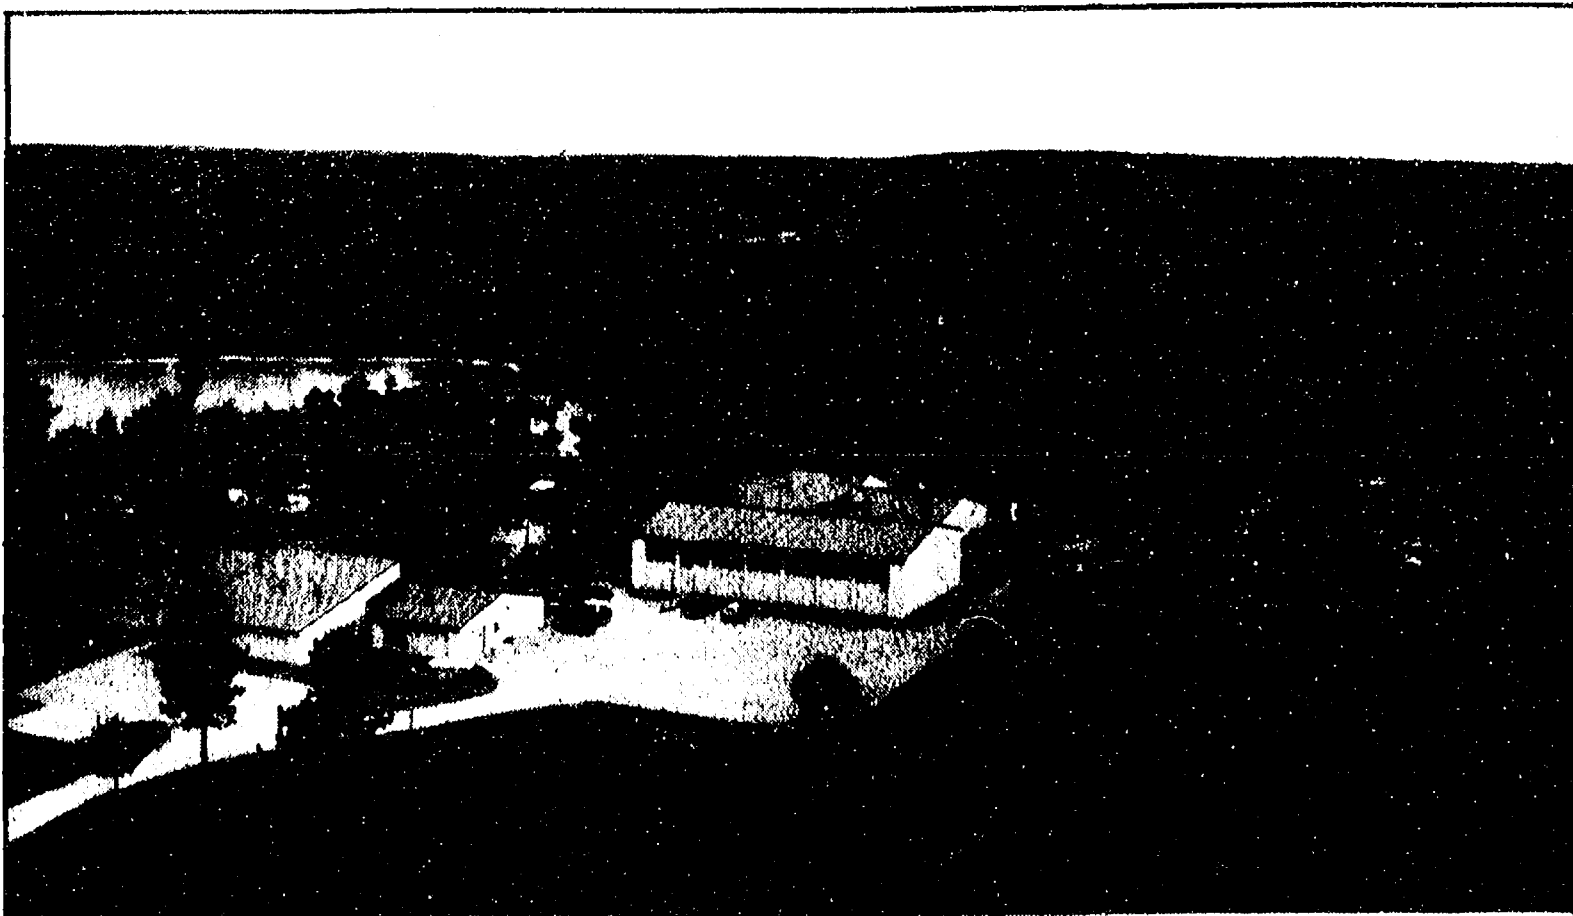

--The Shawono Center is a regional center and residents are restricted to persons from the top 48 counties of the state (about Bay City north). Eventually there will be a program started in the Upper Peninsula and Shawono will serve the northern half of the Lower Peninsula.

--To become a resident of Shawono, a juvenile must have committed an offense that would be considered a crime for an adult. Most have committed some type of felony. Most often the crimes include auto theft or breaking and entering; however, technically Shawono can accept any type of felony up to and including persons who have committed murder.

--Shawono Center is equipped with dead bolt locks on all the doors, metal screens on the windows and has increased the child care staffing pattern to include a minimum of four staff on duty with 30 residents (Shawono's capacity) during the day and afternoon shifts and three staff members on duty when the residents are sleeping.

Amman said Shawono has not had any murders in part because there are fewer serious personal crimes among the youth of northern Michigan and also because of the program's selection system which determines whether or not Shawono can work with a specific youth.

"If the youth is too disturbed or not capable of working within a group program," explained Amman, "the offender would probably be sent to a maximum security facility for juveniles, probably Green Oaks Center at Whitmore Lake."

12 To 19 Years Old

Residents can be from 12 to 19 years of age. Amman said Shawono does not have any 12 year old boys. The average age is about 16 years of age, the youngest resident being 14. The average length of stay, since June of 1986, has been about 14 months, the shortest being seven months and the longest 26 months.

Shawono residents are not sentenced to the facility by the court for a specific period of time. Amman said nothing in the juvenile system works on determinate sentences. Instead the resident's stay is determined by how quickly he adapts to his surroundings and completes the program.

The treatment program, in part the creation of Shawono Director, Fred Woelmer, is a group program based on the concept that the kids are going to listen to each other. It emphasizes care and concern for others. This is the primary focus of the program with education taking second place.

"We will not go to school," explained Amman, "and instead, sit over in the dorm to help one of the group members work through his anger or depression or a problem with a relationship rather than put off the situation until after school."

The group is responsible for monitoring the actions of the individual members within the group and help each other stay within the confines of the program. Each group meets for five 90-minute sessions weekly. During these meetings members point out inappropriate behaviors as well as the successes of the persons involved in their group.

"Probably the most difficult part of our job," said program manager, Jim Sandborn, "is getting the youths to understand what has happened to them." Sandborn said many of Shawono's residents have been hurt and once they get to Shawono suddenly there is a great deal of anger. "The staff is trained well enough and smart enough to know that this anger is not directed at them, but rather at everything that has happened to the boy," he said. Amman and Sandborn said that working through this anger and accepting the fact that they are going to be a resident at Shawono until the program is completed are the two most difficult hurdles of the treatment program.

Five Levels

There are five levels within each group beginning at level one and progressing to level 5. Residents advance to each progressively higher level by achieving the goals and expectations of each level. Once a resident achieves a level regardless of what happens, he cannot lose it.

"It may become necessary to rescind the privileges at a certain level," explained Amman, "for an indefinite period of time either because of problems on campus or truancy until we feel comfortable the resident can be trusted to handle the privileges of the level, but the level is maintained."

Staff Members

Shawono Center is staffed with 16 youth specialists who are required to have the equivalent of two years of college, three group leaders (one for every 10 residents) who are required to hold a degree in human services, two program managers, Chuck Amman and Jim Sandborn, who must hold a Master in Social Work degrees, and four school teachers (two of these teachers have degrees in special education).

Shawono contracts with the North Central Community Mental Health for the services of a consulting psychologist and a case manager who is responsible for developing after care resources for "life after Shawono." Shawono is also staffed with secretarial, food management and maintenance personnel.

Next week the Avalanche will take a look at the problem of truancy at the Shawono Center, why residents run away, who is most likely to run, how these truanies affect the community, what happens to the resident when he is caught and what the Center does to prevent truancy. The following week we will examine "life after Shawono," what happens to Shawono residents following their release.

Building the Heartbeat of the North

The ULTIMATE Get Well Gift

Grayling area patients who need life-saving blood receive it from the Red Cross Regional Center in Petoskey. So do patients from 12 other northern Michigan hospitals.

But the readily available supply of safe blood we depend on is in jeopardy. Here's why:

More than 20,000 pints of blood will be processed this year in space that was designed in 1974 to handle 8,000 pints. The seriously overcrowded conditions are becoming intolerable -- the chances for human error will soon be just too great.

To ensure that the ultimate get-well gift is here when we need it, we must construct a new Blood Center entirely with private gifts. Already, $600,000 of the campaign's $975,000 goal has been pledged. The Kresge Foundation will give us an additional $100,000 if we are able to raise the final $275,000. We need your gift to quarry us for the challenge. And if we meet the challenge, we will get a new Blood Center.

Please make your tax deductible gift to the Red Cross "Building the Heartbeat of the North" Capital Campaign. If you have any questions, please call the Red Cross Blood Center at (616) 347-5984. Thanks for your get well gift!

Scattered thoughts after the 1989 AuSable Canoe Marathon: This was the most exciting marathon I've ever watched mainly because two of the five lead canoes were local teams — Dave Shepherd - Jim Harwood and Jeff Kolka - Bill Torongo. Dave and Jeff have raced for several years and they've got a whole lot of fans out there they don't even know about. Keep up the good work. You've got a lot of people pulling for you.

The best part of the marathon for me was at Foote Dam, the last portage before Oscoda. Half of the canoes had already finished the race but Carrie Trudgeon, 19, and Mike Davis, 18, were in a race to beat the official cut-off mark of four hours after the leader's finishing time. Carrie and Mike had already paddled hard for close to 17 hours in their first marathon attempt and they still had another hour and a half battle in front of them — and they weren't even sure their time would count. But they didn't quit and their family and friends were there to pull for them, offer encouragement. It was an inspiring sight and even a tough, cynical, cold-hearted person would have been touched.

Going without sleep throughout the race isn't the toughest thing for me. Going to work Monday and staying in one place is the toughest part. I keep wanting to get up and drive to the next bridge or dam.

I won't mention names but a famous AuSable River guide had to ask which direction the canoes would come from while waiting at the finish line at Oscoda.

Carrie and Mike also have a lot more fans out there than they realize. The young team just missed the four-hour cut-off mark by 95 seconds but they finished the race — something 7 teams failed to do this year and something about a quarter of all the teams over 42 years have failed to do. A lot of people are proud of Carrie and Mike's accomplishment.

The Milltown Parade was great and I think it's firmly established as a big event to draw lots of people. It just keeps growing bigger and better.

What I liked best about the parade is seeing a lot of people you know. It reminded me of the 4th of July celebrations in Grayling when I was young. Most of the people in the town would make a day of it downtown and in the park. Running into so many of your friends adds to any event.

Polish Politics Makes It Close

THE DOG DAYS of summer -- from mid-July until Labor Day -- cause random thinking. Herewith, then, some thoughts at random about random events and random people.

NOW THAT'S CLOSE -- Gen. Wojciech Jaruzelski has been elected president of Poland in a close election.

Gen. Jaruzelski was elected by Poland's National Assembly by a 270-233 vote, with 34 abstentions. He received the bare vote necessary to be elected.

The key point is that nobody was running against him. It was Jaruzelski 270, nobody else 233.

Now, that's scary. It recalls the old saw that a particular candidate couldn't win even if nobody was running against him.

Of course, there are explanations. Polish politics is far too complicated to be explained in a few sentences, and the election involved abstentions and legal qualifications and other complications. So it was far different than elections as we know them here. But it still should serve as an eye-opener for the general.

In a brief acceptance he said: "I want to be a president of reconciliation, a representative of all Poles."

Sure sounds like a winning American politician, doesn't he?

JIM AND JANET -- So Gov. James Blanchard is going to marry again. The lucky bride will be a long-time staff aide, Janet Fox. The event will take place at some unspecified time later this year.

Good for them. From all appearances, Ms. Fox is a fine person, and they make a fine couple.

The wedding will be long before the red-hot race for governor gets underway seriously, and marital status likely will have no effect on the campaign.

It was not always thus, of course. Divorce long was a bugaboo in American politics.

His divorced status was a strike against Adlai Stevenson when he ran for president in 1952 and 1956. Of course, Dwight Eisenhower's hero status was a much more severe strike against Mr. Stevenson; Mr. Stevenson probably couldn't have defeated General Ike if he had been celebrating his golden wedding anniversary. But the divorce was heavily discussed.

Nelson Rockefeller headed down the road to political frustration with his divorce; again, marital condition probably wasn't decisive, but it certainly added to Mr. Rockefeller's political woes.

That's all gone now. Ronald Reagan was married twice, and nobody ever mentioned it, either in his campaigns for governor of California or for the presidency. It really doesn't matter anymore from a political standpoint.

Times have changed, and so have the tastes and tolerances of American society.

So, good luck to Gov. Jim and his lady, Janet. Politics really isn't involved -- nor should it be.

MORE ON QUAYLE -- Politicians. You just can't depend on them.... at least, as subject of a column written several days before its publication.

A week or so ago, I wrote that Vice President Dan Quayle seemed to be settling nicely into his new job. He had visited several countries on behalf of our government without adverse incident, and he had bearded the societal/political opposition in its own den with a good-enough appearance before the national convention of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in Detroit.

So far, so good. Then Mr. Quayle made another speech. In Nashville, Tenn., he addressed the Young Republicans National Convention. Attempting to be topical, he referred to the 20th anniversary of the first walk on the moon by astronauts (as he identified them) "Neil Armstrong and Buzz Lukens."

Of course, he made a slight slip of the tongue. It was Buzz Aldrin who walked on the moon, not Buzz Lukens. And who is Buzz Lukens? He happens to be a congressman from Ohio (at least, he is for now), who recently drew a 30-day jail term for having sex with a 16-year-old girl. Mr. Lukens, incidentally, when he was younger, also was quite a hero of the Young Republicans organization.

A slip of the tongue by Mr. Quayle? Let us hope so. Who among us has not done a similar thing from time to time? Oh well; maybe the dog days of summer affect the vice presidential mind, too.

Letters to the Editor

We Are Not Corporate Executives Or A Disgruntled Vocal Minority

My husband and I are "weekend residents" owning property in the Grayling area. We are not new comers to the area! We have been landowners for 20 years, and I have been coming to Grayling for 40 years.

I have four concerns out of many that I'll share with you. One, I'm concerned about preserving the area's environment. What will be the future of the area wildlife, particularly the Kirtland's warbler and bald eagle? Two, I'm concerned about preserving the AuSable River. What will be the future of the fishing in the area? Will it go the way of the grayling? Both the Kirtland's warbler and AuSable River are recognized throughout the United States as being important assets to the natural environment. Three, I'm concerned about the noise factor in the operations of Camp Grayling. Illinois has many TV commercials wanting Illinoisians to say "yes to Michigan." What kind of rest, relaxation and recreation will families coming 400 miles find while listening to military maneuvers? Four, I'm concerned about the proposed expansion of Camp Grayling. I am not opposed to military training, but why does an expansion of training facilities have to be in the Grayling area, a potential recreational haven for the Midwest? Mr. Hanson gave the Michigan National Guard an inch, they have taken a mile!

We want to retire here in a couple years. Our daughter, now 27, has dreams of building a cabin on our acreage. Is there a future for us in Michigan?

We are not corporate executives or a disgruntled vocal minority. We are average citizens interested in preserving the environment for our children and future generations. I'm saying "yes to Michigan," but a loud resounding NO to an expanded Camp Grayling.

I would urge all citizens interested in preserving the environment in the Grayling area to become members of the AuSable Manistee Action Council, a non-profit organization, in their words, "organized to initiate and manage appropriate action required to protect the environment, natural resources and quality of life in the Upper AuSable and Manistee River Basins of Michigan." Address any inquiries to: AMAC, Route 3, Box 3510A, Grayling, Michigan 49738. I feel the group has more than lived up to that purpose and you can help make a difference by joining and supporting their cause.

Med-I-Vac Chopper was a Blessing

Colonel David B. Hanson
Commander
Camp Grayling
Dear sir:

I would like to say "Thank You" for a group of nine people who were tubing on the North Branch of the AuSable River. These people were from Rochester Hills, Michigan, and were total strangers to me and this area.

They had never been tubing and had no idea how long it would take to travel six or eight miles on a tube. I allowed them to enter the river from my home at 11:30 a.m., Saturday July 22, and I agreed to pick them up at Kellogg's Bridge around five or five-thirty. I became alarmed along about 6:30 p.m. and started to look for them. After checking several spots along the river and a few phone calls, I decided I had to do something fast as it was getting real cloudy and at dusk it is a problem on the river. A Med-I-Vac chopper working in this area was indeed a blessing.

I want to thank you for your fast response to this and the speed in which your Med-I-Vac responded in locating this party of nine.

Within fifteen minutes, after our conversation, a Deputy from the Crawford County Sheriff's Department came up to me and said that they had been located and he took me to the spot where they were gathered. There were four adults and five children, one of which was two years old, riding in a rubber raft. My granddaughter was one of those persons who went with them from my home.

I want to again thank you for your help in this emergency; and I want to thank the Sheriff's Department for their help even though I did not get the Deputy's name.

A happy ending when the last of this group left my home at 10:30 p.m.

The Guard Is More Important Than You Are

Dear Sir:

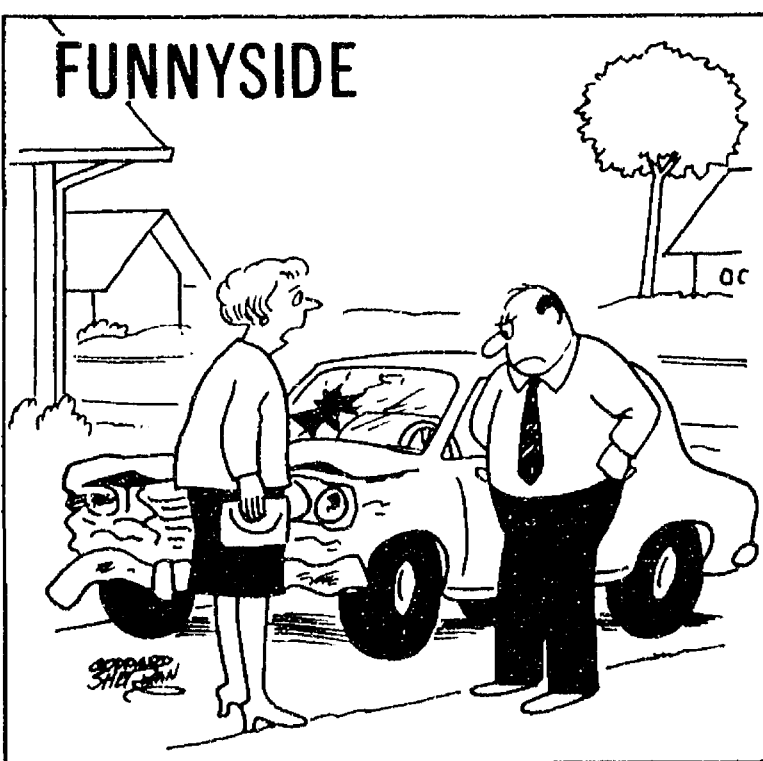

I would like to let Mr. Savox know that we cannot afford to lose Camp Grayling nor can we afford not to have the National Guard here, but we can afford not to have the people that have been causing so much trouble to everyone. They do not care who it may hurt as long as they get their way. I would like to let the trouble makers know that they do not speak for me nor do they speak for the people of Michigan regarding Camp Grayling and our guard.

I would like to tell them that Camp

Grayling needs all the improvements planned for them. Once before I said to you people if you do not want the guard training here and you think there is too much noise around here then move, because the guard is more important than you are. I have been wondering for some time now just who do you people hate or are mad at, the National Guard, the people in the guard or are you mad at what the guard stands for? I don't know.

Notes from the Woods

By Nancy Lemmen
Avalanche Columnist

Are you the proud owner of some trinket made from African ivory? Perhaps you have a piece of jewelry you love to wear or maybe a small knick-knack which sits proudly in a display cabinet.

If so, you may have played a small role in the decimation of the African elephant population. For the strong possibility exists that your ivory was originally obtained by professional poachers who seem bent on destroying that magnificent animal species.

This summer, the Humane Society of the United States (HSUS) grimly lead to the disappearance of the African elephant from the face of the earth by the late 1990s.

The World Wildlife Fund (WWF) reported that of the 1.5 million elephants in Africa in 1979, fewer than 700,000 remain today. The HSUS's estimate was even bleaker: It said that only 400,000 are left alive.

Yet, as many as 300 elephants continue to be slaughtered daily on the continent of Africa. They are, of course, killed for their ivory tusks, which are then traded on the international market, after having been worked into bracelets, earrings and statues for consumers in the United States, Europe, Canada and Japan.

In northeast Kenya, for example, poachers armed with modern automatic rifles will get $6 a pound for the tusks they take. In contrast to the typical Kenyan, who earns as little as $20 a month doing legal work, a poacher can earn $100 for a single night's efforts. The ivory is then smuggled out of Kenya to markets where its price will have multiplied at least ten times.

It is believed that 80 to 90 percent of all ivory now being traded on world markets was obtained illegally. So the chances are 8 or 9 out of 10 that the beautiful little ivory trinket or earring you own was originally obtained by poaching.

I want to tell you just a bit about the creatures who unwittingly donate their tusks so that we could have our piano keys, our billiard balls, our jewelry.

Elephants are highly intelligent, social and emotional animals. Their babies spend long childhoods developing distinct personalities. Families express great joy upon meeting each other; they also grieve for their dead.

Dr. Joyce Poole, a biologist studying elephant behavior in Kenya, explains that females and their young tend to congregate in family groups of six or more, usually headed by a cow matriarch of 40 or 50 years old. Since the older, larger elephants are usually killed first for their superior ivory, these families are thrown into turmoil when their senior members are slaughtered.

It is not unusual in heavily poached areas to find fragmented families headed by a teenager. Last year in Tanzania, for example, Poole saw a group of 21 elephants headed by a 15 year old. All the rest were under eight. Tragically, the majority of elephants orphaned before the age of ten soon die themselves.

This "combined loss of wisdom and leadership as well as genetic strength is incalculable," states Poole.

The HSUS explains that the killing of African elephants for ivory is legal only if done under an internationally established quota system. However, since 80 to 90 percent of the ivory traded on the international market in recent years has been obtained illegally, even the supposed controlled or regulated hunting system threatens the very survival of the elephant.

Furthermore, even in the countries whose conservation programs are judged to be among the best in the world and even in their national parks, poaching runs rampant. It is now impossible to ensure that tusks were taken legally under the quota system.

What has been done to save the African elephant? Although the United States has been importing about $80 million worth of worked ivory products (much of it obtained illegally by poachers) annually, President Bush just announced a ban on further ivory imports into our country. However, the ban could be lifted at any time and meanwhile, commerce in ivory products continues.

What must be done? The African elephant must be listed on Appendix I of the CITES (Convention of International Trade in Endangered Species of Wild Fauna and Flora) Treaty now. An Appendix I listing means that the species is in danger of extinction and all commercial trade would be banned.

What can you do? Let the United States government know that experts believe only an immediate listing as an endangered species plus heavy diplomatic pressure on countries to ban the ivory trade worldwide will save the African elephant.

You can do more, too. Don't buy or wear or display ivory. Let stores know you are adamantly opposed to the sale of ivory products. Contact mail order houses, also. Spread the word. Put the HSUS's "Remember the Elephant."

"Forget Ivory!" bumper sticker on your car. Call or write to me if you need any help with names, addresses or messages.

Elephants survived the last ice age, but they may not survive the modern shopper. Act quickly. Time to save the African elephant is rapidly running out. As the HSUS says, "People can live without ivory. Elephants can't."

A Look At Our Past

23 YEARS AGO
July 29, 1966

Almost half of the largest Kirtland warbler nesting grounds in Crawford County was completely wiped out by a fire that started in the Michigan National Guard Artillery Range south of Jones Lake. An estimated 800 acres were burned with the probability that a large share of this year's young birds were lost too.

Mercy Hospital Auxiliary members put in 28 hours of work as hostesses on the Michigan State Medical Association Healthmobile which visited Grayling from July 8 to the 12th. Spencer W. Meistrup, 76, of S. Clair passed away on July 17, 1966. Mr. Meistrup was at one time a woods foreman for the Salling Hanson Company, and scalds in the lumber yards.

He moved to Grayling with his parents after graduating, and his father worked for the lumber mills for many years. Spencer was also a member of the famous baseball teams playing for Grayling in the teen years of 1900.

An A&P grocery ad that appeared in the July 28th issue featured young turkeys (4 to 9 lbs.) for $.37 per pound, 7 rib pork loins for $.39 per pound, round steak for $.89 per pound and an 18 oz. bottle of Ann Page Ketchup for $.18. Ah, the good old days.

The members of the Frederic Church of God welcomed their new pastor, Paul Aumiller and his family. The Frederic parish was Rev. Aumiller's first pastorate, although he had helped in several churches before his call to Frederic.

Evelyn Skingley Gardiner announced her candidacy for Grayling Township Treasurer on the Republican ticket.

The Crawford County Road Commission received an application from the General Telephone Company for a construction permit to bury under ground cable for the telephone extension to serve the Lovells and McMaster Bridge area.

Fred Bear was the guest of Johnny Carson's Tonight Show on Thursday, July 28. The program was televised on TV Channel 7.

The newly formed Crawford AuSable School District will consist of three precincts for the convenience of the registered voters.

48 YEARS AGO
July 29, 1943

Three more Grayling Michigan men have exchanged their civilian clothes for the "Navy Blue." They reported to the U.S. Naval Training Station, Great Lakes, Ill., last week and are now undergoing a period of boot training there. The Grayling recruits are Albert L. E. Vallad, Star Route. Private Arthur Henry Feldhauser of Grayling won his first Army Chevrons this week, those of private first class at Keesler Field, Biloxi, Miss., by qualifying for enrollment in Keesler Field's B-24 Liberator bomber mechanics school. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Feldhauser, Private Feldhauser will undergo the rigid 17-week course of the Army Air Forces Technical Training Command. He then will be qualified for active line duty with some B-24 unit of the Army Air Forces.

Jimmy Madill of Frederic came down with scarlet fever Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Stillwagon and family of Detroit are vacationing in Lovells.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Long have purchased the late Mrs. George L. Alexander home on Peninsular Avenue from Wilhelm Raee, executor in the Alexander estate, and on behalf of the Second National Bank of Detroit. Mr. and Mrs. Long came to this city something over two years ago from Chicago and purchased what was known as the "Little Market" on Cedar Street, where they since have enjoyed a fine and growing patronage.

Peter Stephan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Stephan, woke up Saturday morning on his sixth birthday with that party celebration in mind, until the reflection of his mirror showed a bad case of mumps.

Miss Betty Smith celebrated her sixteenth birthday at her home at Camp Grayling with seven couples enjoying an evening of dancing and playing cards.

Corp. Bill Joseph of Camp McCoy, Wis., spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Joseph.

A son, Terry Ronald, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Barton Wakeley Wednesday, July 21st. He weighed eight pounds.

ST. Francis Thrift Shop Celebrates 25 Years Here

Before having garage sales and shopping at them became fashionable, the St. Francis Episcopal Thrift Shop was providing good, clean, used clothing and a variety of household items for a fraction of the cost of new. This month, the St. Francis Episcopal Ladies Guild, which has operated the Thrift Shop, is celebrating 25 years of service to the residents of Crawford County.

In July, 1964, the Thrift Shop opened for business in a home located across the alley behind Olsen's of Grayling. The house belonged to Nels Olsen who donated its use to the guild free of charge. The house had neither heat nor water, but the Ladies Guild was grateful for Nels' generosity. When the weather got cold, the Grayling Fuelgas Company loaned them a space heater and the tiny business made it through the first winter. The shop continued in that location for the next 2 years.

Bea Berry was chosen as the chairman of the Thrift Shop in 1964, and served in that capacity until she moved to Traverse City in 1965. Marge Hough was then named chairman and she served from 1965 until health problems forced her to retire in September of 1983. In 1983, the Bishop's Committee decided the new Thrift Shop director should receive a small salary, and Shirlee Phillips was appointed to the position. Phillips was the first person in the shop's history to be paid for her efforts. The Thrift Shop had always been operated by volunteers. Other directors included Edie Welt, Kim Furstenu, Mary Cariveau, Helen Shuster and then a second appointment for Shirlee Phillips, who continues in the position.

In 1966 Nels notified the guild that he wanted to use the house for rental property and offered the use of the store directly behind his business. The Thrift Shop operated in its new location until 1974, when Nels explained that once again he needed the space. With no place to go, the guild decided to close the Thrift Shop. The merchandise was divided among the ladies and some was sent to C.O.O.R. The equipment was stored in different homes, and from June 1974 until October 1974 there was no Thrift Shop.

The shop was resurrected in October 1974 when Mary Gretchen Borchers donated the use of the current building to the guild free of charge and even paid the utility bills.

Volunteerism has been the foundation of the Thrift Shop.

Without the untiring efforts of volunteers from St. Francis, the R.S.V.P. program, the Department of Social Services, Community Family and Children Services from Gaylord and the New Life Community Service, the Thrift Shop would never have achieved the success it experiences today. One volunteer, Mildred Hoy, stands above the rest because of her longevity. Mildred has been working at the Thrift Shop since its earliest time, and even remembers when Julia Kroll and a few other ladies held rummage sales at their homes to raise money for the guild when the Thrift Shop was only an idea. Over the years the following persons have donated time in the Thrift Shop: Julia Kroll, Evelyn Tholl, Lynn Porter, Nancy Doman, Karen Thomas, Blanche Miller, Carolyn Boone, Jane Carlton, Marge Hough, Jeri Wolff, Gladys Mumford, Betty Reinhart, Bernice Smith, Evelyn Smith, Marge Morency, Beth Fisher, Mary Gretchen Borchers, Sally Richardson, Shirlee

Phillips, Carolyn Rakoczy, Evelyn McIntosh, Velda Marshall, Marcella Mitchell, Bea Berry, Roy Dutton, Pat and Dan Hanson, Caramel and Irene Harrington, and many others.

Mary Gretchen Borchers passed away last year and left the Thrift Shop building to the Church, guaranteeing a permanent home for the shop for as long as the community needs its services.

QUESTION: How common is farsightedness?

ANSWER: Farsightedness is the condition of the eye in which distance objects are seen clearly and close objects are not. About half of all people wearing eyeglasses do so to clearly focus on objects close up. To correct for farsightedness a couple of different approaches may be taken. Eyeglasses designed to be worn only for close up viewing such as reading may be used or spectacles that could be worn all the time - but with no distance correction can solve the problem. The choice will depend on an individual's activities such as how much reading or close up viewing is done. Eyeglasses designed for only reading will give a wider viewing area and generally lenses designed to look at a distance and at near have a smaller reading area.

Let's Talk About It

By Joe Murphy

This afternoon, July 18, I spent some time at the old lumber town, Deward, with that Grand Old Man of Deward, Carl Olson. Carl was born in Deward and has many fond memories of the town and the fine folks who once lived there.

It must seem strange to Carl to have memories of a thriving, busy town and to see it today, with hardly a sign it existed. Carl's mother was the last resident of Deward, making her home there well into the 1940's. They lived in the house that was built for David Ward. It was a very nice house and Mrs. Olson had a lifetime lease on the house. Upon her death the DNR had it torn down. I could never understand why they destroyed such a nice home. It was a big house with lots of bedrooms. I always felt that someone could have made a good living there with room and board for hunters and fishermen.

Carl has a very good memory and can recall the location of just about every building in the town. He pointed out the school house, the church (Danish Lutheran), the store, which was also the post office and had the community recreation hall upstairs. He showed me where the railroad round house was located and the sidings where they loaded all the lumber that was produced by the big mill. They cut two hundred thousand feet of lumber every day, six days a week. Think about that amount of lumber a minute. With one day's cut you could build a wall ten feet high and almost four miles long. One huge tree that was cut there scaled out 7,856 board feet of lumber.

Carl has so many fine memories of Deward. We plan on spending another afternoon together, when again I'll try to picture the scenes his old eyes see. Thank you Carl, for a wonderful afternoon and for sharing your memories with us.

Grayling and Crawford County have a lot of potential to evolve into an area which will offer employment and opportunity to our residents. We have a wealth of land and resources to encourage employers to come to our area. With careful planning we can have growth that will respect our environment and way of life. With proper planning, we can have prosperity and still enjoy the natural assets of this beautiful spot we call home.

Hey! What's this I hear about an Antique and Classic Car Show in Frederic? It will be held on August 4 and 5 and will really be something to see. A lot of folks are into restoring those great old cars of the Automobile's Golden Years. I hear a lot of folks are bringing their pride and joy to put on display for our inspection. It should bring back a lot of memories for us older folks and be a real eye opener for the young. Frederic is the ideal place for an old car show because years ago we had a lot of real old cars in Frederic, not from choice, just all folks could afford.

GOVERNOR'S RECEPTION — Crawford County Democratic Party Chairperson Clay Horton had an audience with Governor James Blanchard at Mackinac Island on June 11. Horton and Mary Galloway, coordinator of the Crawford County Young Democrats, attended an informal reception for county party officials at the Governor's summer residence. Both he and Galloway spoke with Governor Blanchard regarding the Crawford County Democratic Party. According to Horton, Blanchard noted that there are many young county chairpersons, and the Governor encourages more young people to get involved.

Petrosky and Barber Earn Scholarships

Petrosky, both graduates of Grayling High School, have received Student Life Scholarships of $1000 a year, renewable for four years, based on academic achievement and contributions to campus and community life.

Oakland is a state-supported university with an enrollment of approximately 11,500 students with a wide range of undergraduate and graduate programs including doctorates in engineering, reading, and the biomedical sciences.

Lloyd Named Employee of the Year

Mel Lloyd was selected as the Grayling Holiday Inn's Employee of the Year for 1988-89 by his fellow employees.

Lloyd has been employed in the Grayling Holiday Inn's maintenance department since March, 1988. He was previously employed by a local lumber mill, and before that Lloyd lived and worked in the Detroit area.

Lloyd's interests include animals and the out-of-doors which explains why he moved to northern Michigan. He is known as a fair, easy going person whose calm manner has enabled him to turn many difficult situations into relatively simple matters. Working the night shift has brought Lloyd into contact with many different personalities, and he has handled each one in a professional, calm manner.

Besides the honor of being selected Employee of the Year, Lloyd received $50 and a weekend package at the Grand Rapids Holiday Inn.

EMPLOYEE OF YEAR - Holiday Inn Manager Dean Smith presents Mel Lloyd with his award.

In Memory

He taught me lessons
 That dad of mine
 To try and do what was right
 And walk that fine line
 No matter what I done that
 Was wrong
 When the dust
 all settled
 He stood by me so
 'proud and strong
 And now he is gone
 We miss him more each day
 But, because of his love and Lessons
 We will all be okay.
 God bless our dad and husband

The Bible Speaks

From Calvary Baptist Church

The Gospel of John Part No. 89 Spirit's Ministry to the Saints

The Holy Spirit ministers to the world by reproofing them of sin, righteousness, and judgement. (John 16:8-11). He ministers to the saints as described in John 16:12-15. Jesus Christ told us the Holy Spirit would continue His earthly ministry of teaching. "I have yet many things to say unto you, but ye cannot bear them now." (John 16:12). The teaching ministry of God is progressive and limited to our response. Many Christians are spiritual babies who use milk instead of meat because they do not allow God's word to become a part of their lives. (Hebrews 5:11-14).

The plan of the Holy Spirit is to guide Christians into all truth. "Howbeit when he, the Spirit of truth, is come, he will guide you into all truth: for he shall not speak of himself; but whatsoever he shall hear, that shall he speak: and he will shew you things to come." (John 16:13). He is identified by name as "the Spirit of truth." This truth will not stress the presence or power of the Holy Spirit. "...for he shall not speak of himself..." The fulfillment of this ministry is through the inspiration, preservation, illumination, and application of the Holy Bible. He gives us God's words of truth. (1 Cor. 2:11-13). He gives us spiritual anointing and understanding of the Bible. (1 John 2:27 & 4:6). He gives us all spiritual truth we need to know until Christ returns. (2 Tim. 3:15-17).

The pre-eminence of Jesus Christ is the purpose of the ministry of the Spirit of truth. "He shall glorify me: for he shall receive of mine, and shall shew it unto you." All things that the Father hath are mine: therefore said I, that he shall take of mine, and shall shew it unto you." (John 16:14,15). The ministry of the Holy Spirit always teaches about, and glorifies Jesus Christ, not the Christian or the Spirit. "For it pleased the Father that in him should all fulness dwell." (Col. 1:19). "For in him dwelleth all the fulness of the Godhead bodily." (Col. 2:9) "In whom are hid all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge." (Col. 2:3). Jesus Christ is made unto us wisdom. (1 Cor. 1:30).

The result of the ministry of the Spirit of Truth in the Christian is to conform Him to the image of Jesus Christ. (Rom. 8:29 & 2 Cor. 3:17, 18). This becomes an important part of the teaching ministry of the church. We are to grow in knowledge of the Son of God, "unto the measure of the stature of the fulness of Christ." We are to "...grow up into him in all things, which is the head, even Christ." (Eph. 4:10-15).

Paying the Price

Today we live in a materialistic world. Get this! Get this! Charge this! Don't do without that!

We have become a cashless society depending upon plastic cards and automatic money machines. We want it all NOW! That's the key problem of our times. Spend, spend, spend! Easy come, easy go. Just sign on the dotted line and away we go. Charge now, pay later seems to be the trend.

God doesn't care how much or how little you have. It doesn't make any difference to Him if you're blue-collar, white collar or dirty collar. It is the quality of your life, not quantity. He seeks.

You want credit and interest? Try giving God the credit He deserves for His interest in you.

We are governed by God's generous terms. Effective now, not later.

PRAYER TO THE HOLY SPIRIT.
Prayer through application to the Holy Spirit. Holy Spirit who solve all problems, light all roads so I can attain my goals. You who give me the divine gift to forgive & forget all evil against me & that in all instances of my life you are with me. I want in this short prayer to thank you for all things as you confirm once again that I never want to be separated from you even in spite of all material illusions. I thank you for your mercy toward me & mine. You must say this prayer for 3 consecutive days & after the third day the favor requested will be granted even if it may appear difficult. This prayer must be published after the favor is granted without mentioning the favor. Only your initials should appear. G.B.

Happy Birthday

SPORTS FANS!
Bet You Didn't Know
Brought To You By Mike Fortino
Sales Representative

Now that Tom Landry is no longer the coach of the Dallas Cowboys, do you know which current head coach in the National Football League has been coaching the same team for the longest time?...Answer is Chuck Noll who's been head coach of the Pittsburgh Steelers every year since 1969. Next is Don Shula who's led the Miami Dolphins every year since 1970.

One of the most incredible records ever made in big league baseball was Ty Cobb batting over .300 every year for 23 YEARS IN A ROW - an amazing achievement.

Here's an oddity that proves how unpredictable sports can be...The Washington Redskins lost every one of the 4 pre-season exhibition games they played in 1982 - yet they went on to win the Super Bowl championship that season!

Tom Landry may not be the coach of the cowboys anymore, but Mike Fortino is still the guy to see at Scheer Motors. See the moves of Herschel Walker, the promise of Troy Aikman, and the haircut of Jimmy Johnson. All this when you thought you just came in to buy a car. Only at Scheer Motors in Grayling.
